President and Chief Executive Officer

Terence F. Bowles took over as President and Chief Executive Officer of the St. Lawrence Seaway Management Corporation on November 1, 2010. He is the third person to hold this position since the Management Corporation was established in 1998 to oversee the operations of the Canadian portion of the Seaway system.

Prior to joining the Seaway, Mr. Bowles was President and C.E.O. of the Iron Ore Company (IOC) of Canada from 2001 to 2010. IOC is the largest manufacturer of iron ore pellets in Canada, with facilities in Labrador City and Sept-Iles, and has a customer base covering North America, Europe and Asia. Rio Tinto, the international mining group, is the majority shareholder of IOC. Under his leadership, IOC experienced an impressive business turn around, improved its safety performance, recapitalized its aging infrastructure and updated technology and work methods to improve productivity and output.

Following his graduation as a Chemical Engineer from Laval University in Quebec City, Mr. Bowles joined Quebec Iron and Titanium (QIT). During his 27-year career at QIT, he assumed a series of progressively more senior assignments which culminated with his appointment as President in 1996, a position he held until 2001.

Along with his Engineering Degree, he obtained a Masters in Business Administration from Montreal's McGill University, completed an Advanced Executive Program at the Kellogg Graduate School of Management in Chicago, a Strategic Leadership Program at the London Business School, and McGill's Institute of Corporate Directors Program, where he received the ICD.D designation.

Mr. Bowles is a Member of the Quebec Order of Engineers. He is currently on the Board of the Canadian Institute of Mining, Metallurgy and Petroleum, and the Chamber of Marine Commerce. Born in Quebec City, Terence Bowles now resides in Montreal with his wife Lise, where they raised three sons.
