HFM Testing at Eisenhower Lock

Eisenhower Lock will soon begin testing of the Hands Free Mooring (HFM) equipment. During this testing period the Lockmaster may request your vessel's participation in a test.

Should you elect to participate, the lock crew will secure your vessel traditionally using all required mooring lines. Once secured, the testing will proceed. During the test it is important for Masters/Pilots to ensure that mooring lines are kept slacked so as not to interfere with the effectiveness and/or cause damage to the HFM units.

Masters/Pilots are asked to follow the instructions of lock personnel. Your cooperation during the testing period is greatly appreciated.
