NEW LIGHT ON BRIDGES IN THE WELLAND CANAL

Please be advised that a new yellow navigation light has been added to all bridges in the Welland Canal. The yellow light is situated beside the current red and green navigation lights on the bridge and will begin flashing to advise Mariners that the process to raise the bridge has been initiated (i.e. the vehicle traffic lights are set to red). The red navigation light will remain on as usual. Once the bridge raise sequence has started the yellow navigation light will turn off and the red navigation light will start flashing. When the bridge is fully raised the green navigation light will be displayed.
